

Come to Kure Beach!

Our Facilities There Have Fall & Spring Openings

A stay at Kure Beach offers the members of your church:

A unique place apart – Kure Beach is the only ocean front property owned by the ELCA on the Atlantic coast. For that reason it is unique. It is also an awesome place to experience the power and majesty of God's creation.

A great place to bring families, individuals, and couples – A shared time together at the beach can build community among diverse members faster and better than so many church functions. Ask those congregations that do beach weeks or retreats. They will tell you of the bonding power of this intentional time together.

The start of a new tradition - Some congregations have been doing beach retreats for 25 years or more. The tradition of the beach get-a-way becomes a tradition and is passed on from generation to generation.

Another powerful ministry tool – It may be the experience members of your congregation need, a chance to experience the Spirit.

A low cost way to spend some time at the beach. - Many congregation members cannot afford a beach experience in any other setting.

A place for planting new seeds of ministry - A beach retreat may be the perfect environment to casually begin conversations about how to move members to new ideas of discipleship. It may be the perfect place to plant seeds for exciting new ministry opportunities.

A fun and relaxing time!!!
